

Reception	Description
Bloggers/Twitterstorians	A highlight of the annual meeting is the opportunity for attendees to meet in person with historians they've previously only connected with through social media. This popular reception celebrates the wide-spread presence of historians in the virtual world. RESERVED
Committee on Minority Historians	Help grow the diversity of AHA membership at a reception for minority historians that emphasizes mentorship across generations. RESERVED
Digital History Workshop	Support scholars attending our popular Getting Started in Digital History workshop, that lets beginners get a good handle on digital history and gives returning intermediate attendees the chance to learn new skills in a comfortable, approachable environment.
Graduate Students	An event to promote networking among history graduate students – mostly PhD candidates, but some pre-qualification students and master's students. This is a great opportunity for a sponsor who wants to reach an audience interested in job searching, publishing, and networking.
K-12 Educators Reception	Welcome K-12 educators attending the meeting with a dedicated reception for socializing and networking. RESERVED
LGBTQ	A reception for LGBTQ historians, historians of LGBTQ history, and their allies. RESERVED
National History Center	The National History Center of the American Historical Association provides a venue in the nation's capital for all who care about the human past to make history an essential part of public conversations about current events and the shared futures of the United States and the wider world. This reception invites attendees to meet with NHC staff, learn more about programing, and have informal discussion about ways to advance history in public life.
Public Historians	A gathering for AHA attendees who work in or are interested in public history. This is a popular yearly event for museum staff, archivists, digital historians, and teachers to discuss their common interests. RESERVED
Teaching and Learning Networking event	This event will help those who are interested in teaching and learning to find each other, build strong professional networks, and advance the cause of teaching and learning issues among the larger community of historians. RESERVED
Two-Year College Faculty	Faculty at community colleges are invited to network and socialize at a special reception for them and their colleagues.
Undergraduate Students	For the first time, the AHA will host a reception welcoming undergraduate history students. RESERVED
K-12 Workshop	This interactive workshop will begin with a keynote and be followed by a primary source analysis workshop, drawing on documents in a variety of media from the collections of the Library.
Committee on Gender Equity Breakfast	This annual networking breakfast provides an exciting and unique opportunity to meet scholars across generations working in all fields.
